104 PINTS OF BLOOD GIVEN TO R. C. FRIDAY

Only 86 persons of the more than 200 who had appointments Friday appeared at the Red Cross Blood Donor station but 37 "walk-ins" made it possible for Adams County to send 104 pints of blood for the fighting men in Korea. A total of 123 persons reported and only 19 were rejected.

"Walk-ins" reporting late in the afternoon kept the donor station open until nearly 5 o'clock. The scheduled closing hour was 4 p.m.

Lincoln Spent 75c Of $200 Fund Raised By His Friends

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—More than 100 years ago Abraham Lincoln won election to Congress with an expenditure of 75 cents.

Friends raised a purse of $200 for his campaign, and Lincoln toured his Illinois district by horseback, chatting with the voters in the fields or in their homes.

He defeated his opponent, Peter Cartwright, a minister, 6,340 votes to 4,829. Lincoln immediately returned $199.25 of the $200 advanced by his supporters.

"I made the canvass on my own horse," he explained. "My entertainment, being at the houses of friends cost me nothing; and my only outlay was 75 cents for a barrel of cider, which some farmhands insisted I should treat to."

His simple frontier technique stands in startling contrast to the complicated task of winning public office today.

"If Abe Lincoln tried that now all he would get is saddle sores for his pains," said a man wise in the ways of politics.

Times Have Changed

The politician on horseback has given way to the politician who travels by motor car or airplane.

MRS. HERSHEY SPEAKER FOR DAR CHAPTER

"It is a proud heritage to be a daughter of those times which saw the birth of the greatest nation in the modern world, but the pride should not be of that variety that has to do only with social prestige," declared Mrs. Della Bida Hershey, York Springs, former executive secretary of the League of Women Voters of Allegheny County, at meeting of the Gettysburg Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution Friday afternoon at the YWCA.

"That is cheap beside the pride that a real daughter of the American Revolution can feel in being a lineal descendant of a Mother of the American Revolution. The woman of that day thought little of social prestige. In the first place, had she been a woman to whom the social side of life meant much, she would scarcely have left Europe and its settled civilization to face unknown hardships in a raw, new land. And even those women of a second or third generation of the early settlers were made of sterner stuff and had inherited courage, hardihood and an interest in building a new country for themselves and their children."

The speaker read excerpts from colonial history describing the "heroism of the pioneer women of America."

In speaking of our early mothers, Mrs. Hershey declared, that they "may be unsung but that they most certainly helped to mold and nurture the slowly growing and annealing unit of government."

In describing the "heroines of the Revolution," the speaker related the story of her own great-grandmother who followed her father and uncle into battle. She was a girl of 18 who carried nothing much with her but a small butter knife with which she prepared butter for the soldiers whenever possible. She also made bandages to dress their wounds.

"Thus I have tried to show you the mothers of the American Revolution were made of sturdy stuff," explained Mrs. Hershey. "They planned, worked, backed their men and threw themselves into the making of a good nation in which their children might find peace and happiness and believe me, without them it never would have happened."

"Now our country is in another crisis," she continued. "It is being tested right now whether we shall be the leader of the world toward freedom, the right to worship as we see fit, the right to a decent living; the privilege to exercise the right of the brotherhood of man or whether we shall sink into the darkness of ages past with the foot of a feudal lord on the necks of every individual."

In conclusion, Mrs. Hershey questioned the organization as to what part it was taking in the "present grave crisis." She asked the women if they were fighting such evils as communism and inflation and if they were voting to put into office the man "whom you think is best fitted to preserve this land."

"Are you a true daughter of the (Please Turn to Page 2)

REPORTS SHOW LOCAL HOSPITAL 'WELL MANAGED'

John A. Hauser, Biglerville, got his administration as president of the Warner Hospital off to a "flying start" Friday evening with a well attended board of directors meeting. The board studied operating reports "as contradictory and amazing as present day economics" in the words of a member of the board.

A detailed report of the first quarter of the new fiscal year — the months of June, July and August — showed that it cost $61.66 more in 1952 to house and serve 1,032 less patient days than in the same period in 1950. Cash operating expenses in 1950 were $68,734.36 to serve 5,592 patient days while in the same three months of 1952 it cost $68,796.02 to serve 4,540 patient days.

On the other hand, during the same period, cash income increased from $60,705.82 in 1950 to $71,448.75 in 1952, an increase of $10,742.93. Of this increase, however, $8,015.93 represented a decrease in accounts receivable which in 1950 were $25,815.86 and in 1952 were reduced to $17,799.93.

Rates Compare Well

Bad debt reserves were reduced from $3,777.52 in 1950 to $35.44 in 1952 while charity allowances decreased only slightly from $5,376.38 in 1950 to $4,722.76 in 1952.

To seal the contradictory pattern of an improved cash position in the face of spiraling operating costs, the directors noted that in 1950 the cost per patient day in private and semi-private quarters was $10.53 while in 1952 it was $12.57. Costs in wards advanced from $7.85 per patient day in 1950 to $12.06 this year.

In the face of this trend, Warner Hospital rates are far below the average charges to patients of hospitals of 50-99 bed size. The national average rate for a private room is $11.67, the Pennsylvania average $12.01 while the Warner rate is $9. Semi-private rooms average $9.22 nationally, $9.67 in Pennsylvania and are $7.50 in the Warner Hospital. The national average ward rate is $7.73; the Pennsylvania average $7.67 while the ward rate at the Warner Hospital is $6.00.

This information was gleaned from an American Hospital Association survey recently conducted. The same survey showed that uncollectable accounts at all hospitals average 4.2 per cent of earned income. Warner credit losses have been held to 3.2 per cent. Of added interest was the survey conclusion that non-profit hospitals such as the local institution suffer less losses than government establishments and that large hospitals lose less in collections than small hospitals.

"It all adds to this, the Warner Hospital is well managed and enjoys the enthusiastic support and good will of the people of Adams County," President Hauser said.

Service Not Sacrificed

"We have maintained rates well below national and state averages but have not in the least sacrificed standards of service despite greatly increased costs. Our cash position has improved because patients are paying their bills promptly and many of those who owe money to the hospital for past services are liquidating their debt to the hospital."

"We are completely fulfilling our responsibility to charity patients, over and beyond the inadequate allowances made by the state, primarily because of the thousands of small contributions we receive in response to our letter campaign."

"The directors join me in expressing sincere appreciation to the people of Adams County for the fine support they are giving to the Warner hospital."

Author Explains Use Of Words "Under God" By Mr. Lincoln

An explanation of how the words "under God" were written into Lincoln's Gettysburg Address is contained in an article entitled "Where Lincoln Got 'Under God'" appearing in the September issue of "Columbia," the magazine of the Knights of Columbus.

The article, by Thomas J. Malone, is illustrated with an engraving of Lincoln making his address here on November 19, 1863. Malone points out that the first manuscript of Lincoln's Gettysburg address does not contain the words "under God," nor does the second, which Lincoln held in his hand while on the platform at the cemetery.

He dismisses the suggestion advanced by William E. Barton, in "Lincoln at Gettysburg," published 22 years ago, that Lincoln was influenced by his reading, as a boy, of Parson Weems' "Life of Washington" in which the words, "under God" appears a number of times.

Suggestions From Seward

The "Columbia" author suggests that possibly Seward may flushed into his mind, released by some spark from the inert "under Providence," spontaneous, unpremeditated, inevitable, and he charged the living that they were highly resolved that the dead should not have died in vain, that the nation should, under God, have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, should not perish from the earth.

That Lincoln actually said it that way is testified by the reporters present, some of whom took the talk down in shorthand, Malone relates. Seventy-seven days later Lincoln wrote his speech again, at the request of Mrs. Everett. In the writing he changed, Malone says "the nation" to "this nation," and moved "under God" one word forward, putting it after the word "nation." The president in two other drafts of his speech retained the wording he had given in the third holograph draft.

Malone concludes, "note that he kept 'under God.' Plain 'God' was good enough for Lincoln."

to the wisdom of such funds and pointed out the possible temptations to abuse they offer. And voters have been made uneasy by the fact that such funds even exist and are deemed politically necessary by men of high reputation.

As to how widespread this custom is—a custom the average voters had never heard of—one congressman estimated that 50 percent of the members of the U. S. Congress have such special funds in one form or another.

This will hardly make the politically unsophisticated voter feel less troubled about the people who represent him. The only contributions he has accepted as normal in the past are those made to finance actual campaigns. Extra contributions for purposes other than to gain office disturb him.

Feed Money Pinch

In his own life he may sometimes be confused about what is right and what is wrong, but anything less than a clear-cut black-and-white morality in public office dismays him. It lowers his trust in government to see it even approached by the shadow of a possible twilight ethics.

The sensible voter realizes that congressmen, like himself, feel the money pinch. But are special funds the answer for public officials who feel they need more money to do their job the way they want to?

Abraham Lincoln didn't have enough money to do what he wanted when he came to Congress. So he sent his family back to Illinois—and lived in a Washington boarding house.

But it is doubtful whether many congressmen today would accept that as a satisfactory solution.

YANKS CLINCH FLAG; BEAT A'S IN 11 INNINGS

By RALPH RODEN

World Series foes, for the first time in five years, will be well rested when the 1952 classic opens in Brooklyn next Wednesday.

The New York Yankees made that certain last night when they defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 5-2 in 11 innings, to clinch their fourth straight American League flag and their 19th in the last 32 years.

The Dodgers have been taking it easy since Tuesday when they nailed down the National League pennant.

Tie Rare Record
Not since 1947 when the Yanks and Dodgers breezed home have pennant races in both leagues been decided before the final bell.

The Yanks tied a rare record in bagging their fourth straight championship. Only other teams to win four consecutive championships were John McGraw's Giants of 1921-24 and Joe McCarthy's Yanks of 1936-1939.

Billy Martin was the man of the hour for the Yanks. The scrappy infielder singled with the bases loaded and two out in the 11th to break a 2-2 tie that enabled the Yanks to take the marbles. A third run scored on an error.

Senators Lose
The triumph gave the Yanks a three-game lead over the runnerup Indians and made it impossible for the Tribe to overhaul the Bombers as both teams have only two games left to play.

Home runs accounted for the game's other runs.
In the only other American League games, rookie Hershel Freeman pitched the Boston Red Sox to a 3-1 victory over Washington and Saul Rogovin hurled the Chicago White Sox to a 6-2 two-hit triumph over St. Louis.

The Dodgers tuned up for the series by beating the Boston Braves, 4-4. The Brooks used most of their scrubs but the lone regular who played the entire game, Billy Cox, knocked in three runs on a homer and single.

CANNERS UPSET 20-6 BY STRONG COLUMBIA TEAM

A strong Columbia High School football team turned back the scrappy Biglerville Cannons 20-6 in a Conference of the Roses contest Friday night at Columbia.

In the first period a Biglerville threat was halted when Sydnam pounced on a fumble on the Columbia 37 from which point a touchdown drive was launched with Yohs finally plunging over from the one-yard mark.

Columbia ran its half-time margin to 13-0 with a tally in the second quarter. Bonfardin cracking over from the three. Yohs added the point on a line smash.

Coach Gene Haas' outfit came back strong in the third period to register their lone six-point.

Grim Tallies
The Cannons unleashed a powerful attack which was good for 81 yards in a sustained drive. Elson Grim pounding through from the four-yard mark to reach pay dirt.

However, Columbia surged back with another score in the final stanza with Bartch tallying and Bonfardin adding the point on another line buck. Sarbaugh had intercepted a Canner pass on the Biglerville 46 to set the stage for the score.

Next Thursday the Cannons meet unbeaten Boiling Springs on the Bubbler field.

Olympic Gymnast To Coach At Duke

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—Raymond S. Sorenson, who competed for the United States Olympic team in London in 1948, will coach Duke University's gym team.

The native of Warren, Pa., formerly served as graduate assistant in physical education at the University of Florida. A graduate of Penn State, Sorenson served three years in the Army Air Corps from 1943 to 1946.

He formerly coached gymnastic teams at Colorado State College. In 1947 he won the National AAU calisthenics championship and that year represented United States in an international meet with Czechoslovakia. In 1948 he was national college champion on the parallel bars and became all-around champion.

Warriors Rout Carlisle 33-0 With Best Play Of Campaign Before Approximately 4,200

Displaying the finest all-around performance of the season, the undefeated Gettysburg High School football team routed highly-touted Carlisle with surprising ease 33-0 here Friday night as they began defense of their South Penn championship before a crowd of about 4,200 fans.

From start to finish the Warriors gave a sharp performance and outplayed the Thundering Herd, scoring in every period. The game was rough and hard-fought all the way. It took just 5:39 minutes of play in the initial period for the determined Warriors to hit pay dirt. Carlisle failed to gain after receiving the kickoff and Brumbaugh punted to Bobby Miller on the 13 and he returned to the Gettysburg 23.

Tonsel Scores On Pass
With Wayne Tonsel and Bobby Miller alternating in juggling the ball, three straight first downs moved the leather to the visitors' 31. Miller picked up two yards on a line jab before Skip Fisel whipped a pass to Tonsel on the 25. Tonsel came back for the ball and then cut diagonally for the southwest corner of the field and, with the aid of a flock of Warrior blockers, streaked to pay dirt. George Penn, who was subbing as extra point man for Bill Knox due to the latter having a pulled leg muscle, kicked wide.

Midway in the second period Gus Dayhoff pounced on a Carlisle fumble on the Warriors' 29 to pave the way for the second tally. Ronnie Williams and Tonsel picked up a pair of first downs to reach the visitors' 26. After a pass was grounded, Tonsel started out around left end, cut back, and went the distance. Penn's boot for the point was blocked.

Early in the third quarter Fisel was forced to punt from deep in his own territory and his boot went to the Gettysburg 42. Dick Smith smacked through for a first down on the 31. After a 15-yard Carlisle penalty which put the ball on the 49, the visitors took to the air only to have Tonsel intercept on the Gettysburg 19.

Skinner On Long Gallop
Tonsel was spulled for a 10-yard loss and then Fisel caught Carlisle's defense napping as he whipped a short pass to Jim Skinner on the 25. Skinner headed for the north sideline, shook off a would-be tackler and galloped 75 yards for the score. Penn converted on the first of his three extra point placements.

A minute and one-half later Gettysburg gained another touchdown to completely demoralize the Herd. Shortly after receiving the ensuing kickoff Fisel fumbled and John Carter picked up the ball and reached the two before being dropped. It took one play as Miller shot through right tackle for another score.

Late in the third period Beittel punted to his own 45 from which point the Warriors moved to their fifth and final six-point.

Fisel Connects Again
On the second play in the fourth period Fisel connected again with a perfect heave to Stanton Musser which was good for a first down on the four. Carlisle held for two downs but then Fisel faded back to pass. He fumbled the ball but still had enough time to scoop it up and hurl to Skinner who stood all alone in the end zone.

From that point on it was just a question of running out the clock and Coaches Howard Shoemaker and Ross Sachs swept their bench clear with a steady stream of substitutes.

Late in the fourth period Carlisle made its most serious threat for a score after a 15-yard penalty forced Fisel to boot from the end zone. Hodge returned to the 26. Two plays later Roger Crouser intercepted and returned to the 25. Carlisle recovered a fumble on the 15 and seconds later Jay Schmitt pounced on a fumble on the 13. The game ended with Brumbaugh picking up a first down on the 26 after Gettysburg had punted.

While Carlisle was undoubtedly hampered by the loss of Dick Cypress, a fine ball carrier, who was out due to an injury, it is doubtful if his presence would have meant much. The Warriors were in great form and now must rate as the team to beat in the race for 1952 conference honors.

All Play Well
It would be a rough task to pick an outstanding player. Skinner, Richie Carter and Dick Ray provided a bulwark of power on the line and were capably aided by Musser, Peters, Knox and Dayhoff. Tonsel and Miller gave their usual fine demonstration of leatherguts; while Fisel's passing was the best of the season to date. Ronnie Williams was again a consistent plunger until forced out by injury. The first line resisters also deserve their share of glory with nice performances being turned in by Rohrbaugh, Penn, Ronnie Miller, Schmitt, Hill, the Crouses and a flock of other lads.

Gettysburg rolled up 15 first downs to six for Carlisle, one of which was through a penalty. The Warriors fired eight passes, connected for four of which two were good for scores. Carlisle completed two of 10 passes, two of which were intercepted.

The triumph gives the Shoemakers a two-year mark of 11 wins as against but a tie.

A toughie appears in the offing next Friday when the Hanover Nighthawks will be met at Hanover.

ENJOYMENT

That Chinese saying — "Enjoy yourself, it is later than you think," has had wide influence in arresting people in their worry and anxiety in life, pointing them to much that they should enjoy beyond the regular routine, before the period of enjoyment is over.

Too many give, as their reason for not doing certain things, that they are too busy or haven't the time. The busiest people seem to have the most time, and the happiest people get enjoyment out of the simplest of experiences. Isn't this something to think about?

If you have a business, or are employed, get enjoyment out of it, or make other plans. You do your best work when you are happiest in doing it. The days are all too short when you work at something that fills you with satisfaction. We must not be deceived into thinking that we are working exclusively for others. We are always working for ourselves! For self-improvement and for a more rounded and balanced life.

Enjoyment has a stimulating effect upon the entire body — from mind to toes! If we would be successful in the line of work we have selected, then we must be sure it adds to our enjoyment, as well as creating it in new forms throughout the years. There are things that people plan all their lives to do, or things to see, without ever having their dream come true. To such this Chinese line can mean much: "Enjoy yourself, it is later than you think!"

There is enjoyment everywhere in nature apparently. Every living creature goes about his business happily. Each lives and works as though he were to be here forever. I have never looked upon any animal or bird that looked bored. Each seems to be endowed with a purpose. Each seeks for its share of enjoyment.

Life is so brief. Enjoy yourself. Do some small deed each day that will add to the happiness of someone else. Write that letter to your friend you have planned so long to do. It may be "later than you think."

PAIN

Nor fame, nor wealth, nor royal birth
Can change the course of life on earth.

The pangs to which the flesh is heir
Both high and low are born to bear.

What causes humble men to wince
Will do the same to king or prince.

A picture of a duke made plain
The withering effects of pain.

No flatterer's ulcer, ache and itch
Alike they torture poor and rich.

They always have and always will
As all discover when they're ill.

CAMPBELL CO. CONTRACTS ARE TO BE HONORED

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A federal judge Friday issued a permanent injunction restraining four Lancaster and Bucks County farmers under contract to the Campbell Soup Co., from selling their tomatoes to any other person or firm.

The decision also prohibits two brokers from encouraging farmers to cancel their contracts with the soup company.

Although the decision, handed down by Judge George A. Welsh in U. S. District Court, dealt with a specific case involving four farmers and two brokers, similar contracts were signed by some 1,800 other tomato growers and the company.

Signed Last Year

Judge Welsh said last week that the contract signed by the farmers appeared to be legal and that the farmers are obligated to deliver tomatoes to Campbell even though the contract price is far below the market price.

The contract signed last year with the Joseph E. Campbell Co., agent for the soup firm, set a price of $36 a ton for tomatoes. The current market price has ranged from $50 to $55 a ton.

The four tomato farmers involved in the case are: Lester C. Martin of East Earl and Phares B. Stauffer, New Holland, both Lancaster County, and Joseph and Frank W. Loch, Bucks County.

Second Injunction

The brokers are Howard Diehm and Samuel Barrage of Lancaster County.

This is the second permanent injunction granted the soup company this season in cases involving last year's contract for this year's crop. A third case is pending in U. S. District Court at Scranton.

In U. S. District Court in Camden, N. J., Judge Vincent Haneman earlier this month granted a permanent restraining order sought by the company against a Burlington County tomato grower, Lewis Schrider Jr.

In this case, the company said, Schrider had attempted to avoid his contract by turning his acreage over to his minor son, Richard, 19.

DEAN ACHESON ANSWERS IKE ON KOREAN CHARGE

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson said Friday that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as Army chief of staff prior to the Korean War supported an American defense line in the Far East which did not include Korea.

Eisenhower last Monday attacked an Acheson speech on January, 1950, as helping bring on the war five months later. Acheson replied today that Eisenhower "tortures the facts." He accused the Republican presidential candidate of misquoting him and misrepresenting his views.

Two Point Charge

At a news conference Acheson counter-attacked Eisenhower directly and by name and sought to drive home two points:

1. He said the Pacific defense line which he defined in his 1950 speech was "developed by our military authorities" and while it did not include Korea, Eisenhower's opinion as chief of staff (1945-1948) was "wholly in accordance with the statement I made."

The line was laid down as one America would man and "defend alone if necessary," and Acheson said he could not believe Eisenhower now means Korea should have been manned by American troops.

Cites Warning in '50

2. The defense of Korea, Acheson said, like that of other Asian countries was not a responsibility for the United States alone but for the whole United Nations. He said he warned in January, 1950, that should an attack occur on any of those areas beyond the American defense line the defense would rest upon the United Nations.

Acheson declared that Eisenhower in his speech at Cincinnati Monday "left out that warning" and was thus able to discuss the Korean situation as if the warning had not been given and "as if his own government rather than the aggressor bore the guilt for Korea's tragedy."

Rudy was blinded when struck by a car years ago while in kindergarten. After graduating from high school with honors, Rudy started working in his father's market. Now, as long as everything is kept in its proper place, the young merchant has no trouble filling orders or making change.

However, Rudy says he still hasn't found a way to avoid asking the denominations of paper money.

Brenda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Zoeller, R. 1, is able to be about after several days at the Warner Hospital where she was treated for a severe cut on her head sustained when she fell on a cement slab at her home. Brenda was placed under observation until it was made certain that she had no skull fracture.

The regular choir of the local Catholic church is preparing to furnish the music for the high mass at the church each Sunday at 10 a.m. beginning with October 5.

Mr. and Mrs. John Harrison Leathery, East Berlin, R. 1, have left on an extended motor trip to the west coast and will visit California. Before their marriage in the early summer, Mrs. Leathery was Miss Z. Ruth Sponseller, a teacher in the borough school of this place.

A reception will be held Sunday afternoon at the parochial hall of the local Catholic church by members of the congregation in honor of the Sisters of Mercy who teach at the parochial school. The reception is in observance of the Feast of Our Lady of Mercy. Parents of children attending the Sisters' classes are requested to be at the hall between 1:30 and 3:30 p.m. to become acquainted more personally with the Sisters.

A good way to control weight is to use skim milk or lemon juice on salads instead of the usual dressings, lean meat, and coffee and tea without sugar and cream. $1,200 Donated To 11 Orphaned Children

BORDENTOWN, N. J. (AP)—Donations for the 11 orphaned children of Mr. and Mrs. John Conger who were killed in a highway crash Sunday totaled $1,200 today and more are on the way.

William F. Hinkle, member of the township committee who volunteered to accept donations, said he is going to see a lawyer about setting up a trust fund for the children.

Hinkle said Benjamin Greenfield of Newark, operator of a Yardville auction house, offered $1,000 and another $200 was collected by local school kids.

Hinkle added that residents of nearby communities have notified him they too want to raise money for the orphans, ranging in age from 10 months to 21 years.

The two oldest Conger boys, Benjamin, 20, and Thomas, 21, who are married and have homes of their own, are caring for their younger brothers and sisters.

CLINGING VINE HUSBAND HAVING HIS DAY IN NEW DOMESTIC ERA

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—America is entering a new matrimonial age—the era of the all-around wife and the clinging vine husband.

The enlightened fellows who have been quick to capitalize on this situation are already among the happiest men of history.

My advice to any young man contemplating getting married today is this:

"Don't pick a clinging vine type of girl. Let yourself be chosen instead by a strong, vigorous-minded, clean-cut girl of wholesome character who will cherish you as a clinging vine husband and give you the feeling of comfort and security every man really needs."

Why spend your life holding her up if you can get her to hold you up? Ever since the Garden of Eden women have had a lot of fun pretending to be weak and helpless, and now it's man's turn.

Ignorant men fought this trend for a while. They stoutly believed they wanted a girl just like the girl that dear old daddy had—a girl who realized that women's place was not only in the home, but in the kitchen of that home.

But the wise man not only willingly has encouraged woman's reach for freedom. He has thrust new freedoms on her, and the new yoked oak—he the clinging vine.

A wife wedded to a clinging vine husband no longer can afford to be irresponsible. He lets her manage the household budget, repair the television set, drive the motor car, choose where they take their vacations, and make every other marital decision. If they go to a sour movie, well—who wanted to see that one anyway? She did. If he doesn't look well in his new suit, is he to blame? She picked it out.

Husband With The Imp Arms

It is the strong silent wife now who feels guilty whenever anything goes wrong. The clinging vine husband sits cheerfully on the fence, aloof from all error himself.

Why should he yearn for the vanished "dominance" of his cave-man past? He sensibly prefers to go on living happily ever after—ever after his married, confused, responsibility-ridden mate.

The real boss in any situation is the one who calls the mistakes, and in the home of the future that will be the husband with the ivy arms.

CREATES BIRDS IN CARVED WOOD

OTTUMWA, R. I. (AP)—Allen J. King, 71, can carve 400 varieties of sporting birds, in miniature, out of wood, and the way he explains it, it's pretty simple.

"First I make a sketch of the bird on paper," he says. "Next I draw an outline of the bird on a piece of wood. Then I set and look first at one and then at the other, and make up my mind how far I've got to go into the wood to find the rest of the bird."

The birds, products of King's skilled hands, have migrated all over the United States.

Was Taxidermist

In his middle 50's, King was working for a Providence taxidermist. He got to thinking what a nuisance stuffed birds sometimes can be. It occurred to him that miniature wooden birds might be better. So he set about looking for them in pieces of wood and sure enough, there they were.

Then he carved and painted their plumage and mounted them on bases of weathered wood which he finds in the nearby woodlands. He "finds" the birds in pattern-makers' pine.

"Of course," explains King, "I've tinkered at art all my life." Such tinkering includes water colors, oils, block prints, etchings and dry points. He also cuts bird silhouettes.

Widely read in bird lore, he knows just what he's looking for when he goes hunting for birds "in the wood."

Idaho Autoists Cutting Capers

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Idaho cars, and drivers, have been cutting some strange capers this summer.

Lyle Newman of Twin Falls was cruising along the highway when the bottom dropped out of his truck. The truck body crunched to a stop on the pavement. The wheels rolled merrily on until they crashed into a telephone pole.

Sweptback Wings Will Be Standard

FARMINGDALE, N. Y. (AP)—Sweptback wing effect will be standard for every first-line combat plane in the Air Force by 1955, says Alexander Kartveli, vice-president of Republic Aviation Corp.

"It's sweptback wings that help man fly faster than sound," he said. "Sweptback wings cut down on what airmen call drag. For example, a plane with wings swept back 45 degrees flying at the speed of sound (760 miles an hour at sea level) reacts to the pilot's control like a straight-wing plane at only 540 mph.

"Thus a plane with sweptback wings is more maneuverable at high speeds, can turn, wheel, climb and dive easier," he said.

honor Mrs. John Hartman, York, a cousin of the bridegroom. She wore a blue-green marquisette over tulle floor-length gown, with a fitted bodice trimmed with white brocade lace and matching lace stole and mitts. Her colonial bouquet of yellow pompons and tulle streamers was tied with yellow satin streamers. She wore a cluster of matching flowers in her hair.

The bridesmaids were the Misses Helen and Edith Martin, Gettysburg, R. 4, cousins of the bride, who wore blue net floor-length gowns with off-shoulder effect necklines, bertha collars, fitted bodices and full skirts. They carried colonial bouquets of yellow pompons and yellow roses with satin streamers. Miss Frances Keller, aunt of the bride and JoAnn Keller, cousin of the bride, both of Gettysburg, R. D., wore gold strapless gowns of Chantilly type lace, torso bodice, nylon net floor-length skirts and lace boleros. They carried colonial bouquets of yellow pompons and yellow roses with satin streamers. The bridesmaids all wore clusters of flowers in their hair to match the bouquets.

Sister Is Flower Girl
Irene Keller, sister of the bride, was the flower girl. She wore a floor-length gown of blue marquisette with an off-shoulder effect, net yoke and full skirt with a hoop. She carried a basket of yellow roses and pompons with a matching flower cluster in her hair. The ring bearer was Charles Bieseker, Hanover, cousin of the bride, who wore a white tuxedo suit and carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

Carl L. Keller, brother of the bride, served as the best man. Ushers were Patrick Irvin, Orrtanna, R. D., cousin of the bridegroom; Larry Cool, Littlestown; Kenneth Williams and William McKenrick both of Biglerville, R. D. The latter three are classmates of the bride and groom.

The altar was decorated with white gladioli, yellow and white pompons and palms. Mrs. George F. Eberhart, church organist, accompanied Mrs. Bernard Frazer, who sang "Pans Angelicus," "Ave Maria" and "O Lord I Am Not Worthy."

The bride's mother was attired in a wine street-length dress, black accessories and a white rose-bud corsage. The groom's mother chose a steel-gray street-length dress, red and gray accessories and a red rose-bud corsage.

Reception Is Held

The reception was held immediately after the ceremony in Xavier Hall for over 200 relatives and friends at which time the couple cut a three-tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Guests were present from Philadelphia, Winchester, York and Petersburg, W. Va. The hall was decorated with fall flowers.

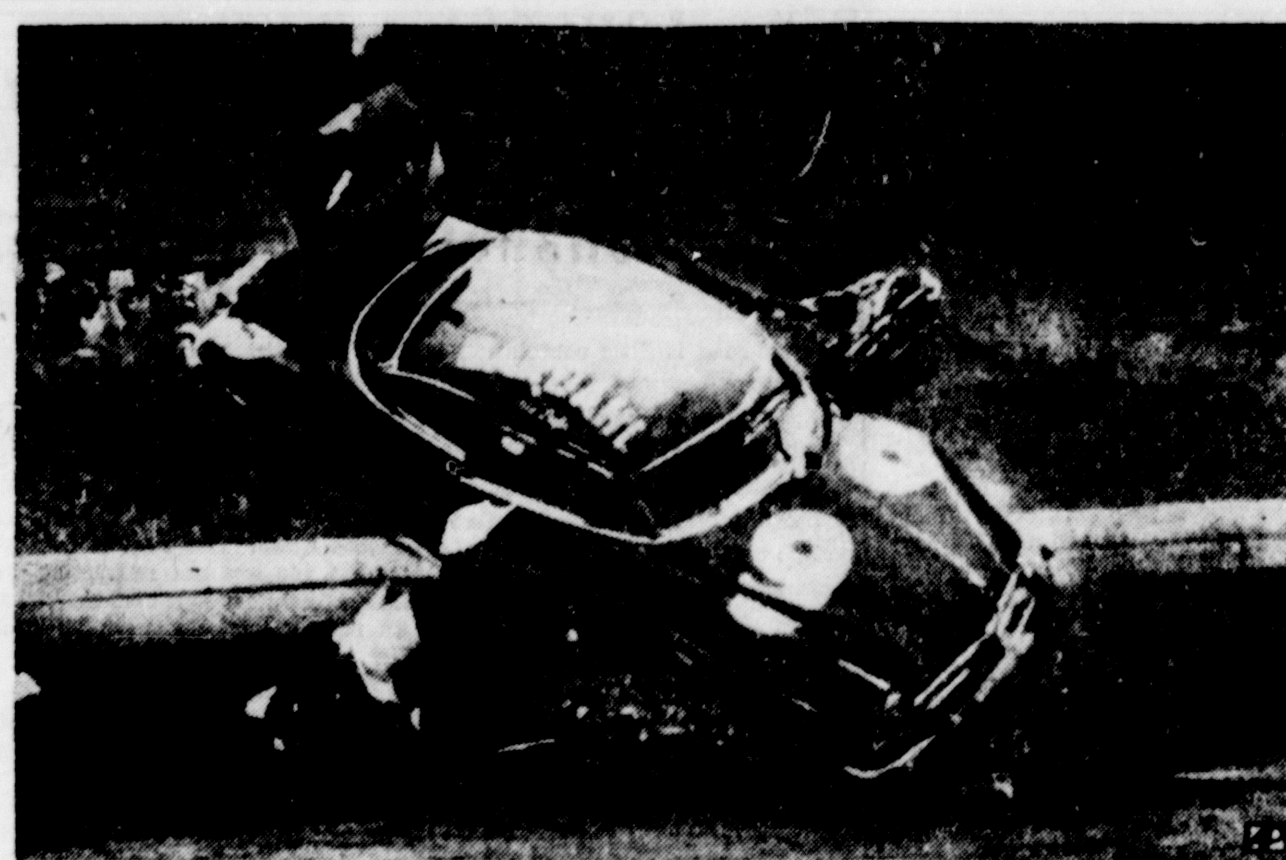

Both the bride and groom are graduates of Gettysburg High School with the class of 1952. The groom is a member of the Future Farmers of America and has earned his Keystone degree.

After a honeymoon of unannounced destination, the couple will reside in their newly-furnished farm home in Buchanan Valley, Orrtanna, R. 1. As a going-away ensemble, the bride wore a gray suit, black accessories and a white carnation corsage.

In Boise, the car snapped off a post, whirled around a corner, smashed into two parked cars and hit a garage door. Police decided a reckless driving charge was not enough. They charged her with "excessive reckless driving."

Cecil Griner was driving his truck up the switch-back Lewiston Hill. The throttle pedal stuck. Griner leaned over to see what was wrong. The truck went over the side of the highway, rolled over four times, hit a rock ledge and dropped 15 feet to another loop of the highway. Griner staggered away with only slight injuries.

Another driver escaped injury when he heaped from a car as it plunged over a 150-foot embankment and landed in the Payette River. His name was George Lucky.

Frank Luptow, veteran Tampa, Fla., racer, heads for track after being thrown from his car in a spectacular crash at Lakewood Speedway, Atlanta, Ga., Sunday. An axle broke on the 44th lap of a 100-lap race, flipping Luptow's car over several times and crushing the driver.

NEWS FROM MOSQUITO WARS

Numerous urban communities throughout the East have reported unusually heavy infestations of mosquitoes during the past summer. Causes of these increased hordes are unknown, although it is probable that favorable weather conditions may have coupled with man's neglect in a degree to produce more than normal broods of these pests. Because control depends largely on finding the propagation source, it is worthwhile to look into the habits of mosquitoes even at this late date.

Mosquitoes breed only in stagnant water. This is the most important fact to establish in starting plans for their extermination. We have seen scores of cases where home owners destroyed beautiful and valuable Virginia Creeper, Boston Ivy and other ornamental vines under the foolish theory that mosquitoes breed in dense vegetation.

The next step in the search is to locate stagnant water—the community breeding place or places of mosquitoes. And at this point is encountered a second false theory. Many communities invest heavily in airplane dusting efforts. Other employ custom sprayers to go up and down streets and alleys coating every surface in sight with germicides, larvicides and insecticides. Usually the mosquito problem continues unsolved. Why?

Perhaps a few odd and out-of-the-way facts about where these insects propagate will throw light on these urban enigmas. In one instance a small village had been severely infested for several weeks. Two breeding places were discovered—an automobile casing leaning up against a wall and a flower bed, and two floral urns in the village cemetery on the opposite side of the community, all containing stagnant water. In another small town sewer traps along the principal streets had suddenly become amazingly active mosquito incubators. Another town suffered a mosquito scourge after water was disconnected to horse troughs with out removing the troughs. An old cistern behind the courthouse infested another town. And upon scores of occasions sagging, clogged eave troughs and downspouts have been the offending sources. One of the most difficult mosquito searches the editor ever conducted ended when a single clogged downspout was found in the rear of a private residence. It was sending out clouds of mosquitoes every night.

These are but a few representative sources where mosquito engendered citizens in an urban community must look. Of course, the more apparent "sore spots" must not be overlooked, such as swamps, lily pools, sluggish streams, and private or public lakes and ponds. But at the same time the eye of suspicion must ever be alert for old tin cans and an out-of-the-way bird bath.

Wholesale combat is often futile unless the specific place or places of propagation is found. Then, as experience so often has demonstrated, a few handfuls of borax or a sprinkling of kerosene may solve problem on which thousands of dollars could have been wasted on an overall scale of combat.

General use of DDT should be shunned even though otherwise reputable sanitary officials recommend it. There are too many other effective larvicides and insecticides which are safe to use to justify widespread applications of this dangerous poison whose cumulative end-effects on human and animal health are not by any means yet known.

Mosquitoes do not travel more than a few hundred feet from their place of origin except when aided by prevailing winds.

of these fruits in shallow or hard soils is a waste of money, time and labor. There is no substitute for plenty of moisture-holding organic matter in the soil to a liberal depth. Livestock manure or a heavy green manure crop should be turned under in most cases although well rotted compost will serve in this vital role.

Red raspberries are usually grown in a solid or hedge-row system, with canes supported by two wires, one on each side of the row. In some commercial regions the single stake method of support is preferred. Gardeners generally find the mass-row method more suitable to their needs and facilities.

If soil is ridged against fall-set plants just before freezing weather arrives or if the rows are mulched liberally with loose straw or hay after the ground freezes, little damage will be suffered from heaving or winter-killing.

All bramble fruit growers should consider the demonstrated fact that winter hardiness, particularly of raspberries, is not solely a matter of weather or mulching. It is well known that a strong raspberry plant withstands winter rigors better than a weak plant. Here strength pertains to plants kept free from defoliating insects and diseases over summer as well as to plants invigorated by fertilization and other cultural practices.

In choosing varieties it is always a wise course to select a variety known to bear heavily in the immediate vicinity. The popular Outhbert and Latham are preferred, although the Ranere should be tested on a small scale. Perhaps a few plants of the Taylor should be tried out if other neighborhood growers have not already tested it.

COMMIES ORDER FAKE DRIVE FOR WORLD PEACE

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

AP Foreign News Analyst

Opening barrages of a gigantic world Communist peace offensive will be fired this week. The thunder of the propaganda guns will mark the first phase of a new Soviet tactical assault on the United States.

From about 30 countries—those in Asia and those such as Canada and Latin America bordering the Pacific—delegates have assembled in Peiping, capital of Communist China, to do the bidding of the Moscow-Peiping axis in this latest campaign.

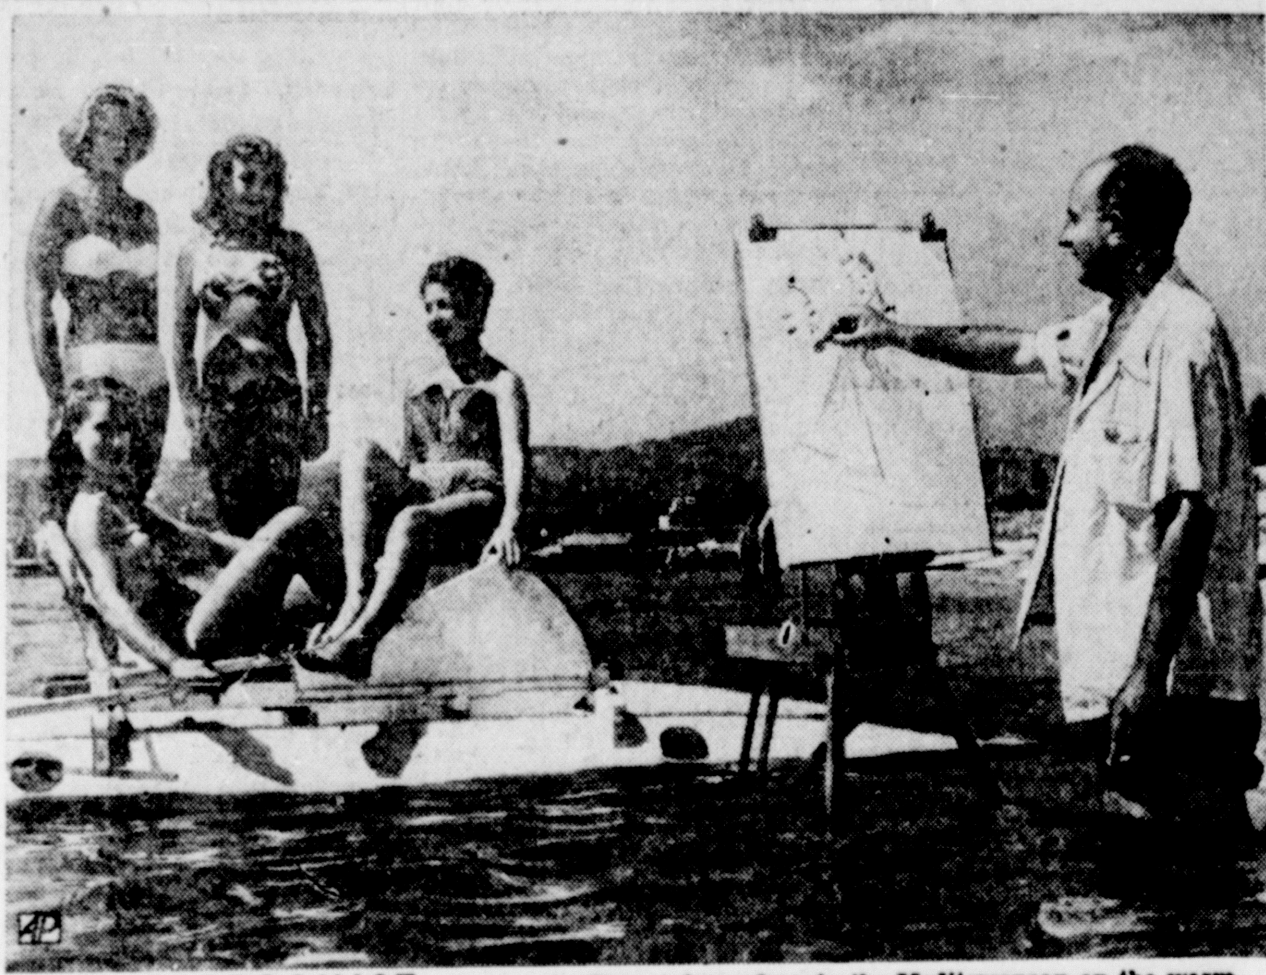

The countries "represented" by the Communist-inspired delegates have a population of more than a billion and a half people and cover two-thirds of the earth's surface.

Planned in July

Plans for this assault were concocted in July, under Soviet guidance, at the conference of the Communist World Council of Peace in Berlin. The Peiping meeting is a curtain raiser to the mighty peace offensive which reaches its climax Dec. 5 in Vienna with a world congress.

There is little doubt that the offensive is tied in with the decision of Moscow to summon an All-Union Congress of the Soviet Communist Party Oct. 5, the first such congress in 13 years.

The major attack is in Asia. One goal is the expulsion of American influence through damage to American prestige. The ultimate

WINNING HORSE RACE DOWNFALL FOR MR. CAUDLE

By RUSSELL BRINES

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's a bright day at Jamaica Race Track, and the assistant attorney general and his wife are there from Washington not knowing the trouble it means.

They go to the track, says T. Lamar Caudle, because a handicapper named Col. Hallow asked them and he is a "very able handicapper."

We're sitting there taking in the story like it happened yesterday instead of three years ago, before President Truman lets Caudle go for picking up outside activities.

And a House judiciary subcommittee is taking it all in too, like they expect to learn something about race tracks and particularly about Jamaica, which is very hard indeed to crack with a nice safe bet.

"We Went" (Unjudicial) "If I was a federal official," says Caudle, rubbing his ear, "I would never go to another race track. Some writer said it was unjudicial for me to go to a race track." He stops and chuckles.

He says: "The colonel said they had a sorry bunch of horses running that day, but one horse in the seventh race was all right. And he gave us the daily double and thought it would win."

"He said they were sorry, trifling horses. We bet on the thing and the daily double came in and it paid about $23 for a $2 bet."

"Then we sat there and did not bet any more and then about that time the seventh race came up."

Caudle is thinking of that day like it was brighter than some he's known and a smile sits on his face with satisfaction.

"The colonel said: 'Now, Lamar, here is the best horse in the race.' The horse was named Uncle Edgar."

Caudle chuckles and says, "I wondered who that horse was named after the FBI director." J. Edgar Hoover. Get it?

Bets $30 On Horse

Well, anyway, the colonel knows his business and tells Caudle to bet $30 on this horse but no more.

"Mrs. Caudle was waiting to get the name from me and Mrs. Caudle had the money that we carried with us, and on this daily double we won so much, so I slipped out and bet $90 on the horse, the most I ever bet on a horse."

"I found Mrs. Caudle slipped out and bet $30 on the same Uncle. We knew this horse was going to win," says Caudle, "and when the thing started, Uncle Edgar stumbled and almost fell on the ground, but he got up and was going and he was about six or eight lengths behind the last horse in front of him."

"What happened was, when he got to the first turn, he had overtaken two of them and when he got in the straightaway on the back side, he was fourth from the lead and I was holding my tickets in my hand."

"I did not put them in my pocket. When that horse stumbled, I think I just mashed them."

Uncle Edgar Wins

"He came around the other curve there and came away in the straightaway and he was about fourth and, all of a sudden, that horse just got out in front and won that race by about six lengths."

"It was the finest horse race I ever saw, Mr. Chairman," Caudle says to Rep. Clegg, who is a Kentucky Democrat and probably hears now and then about horse races.

Well, this Uncle pays $9.23 for every $2 bet which is a lot of green, and Caudle says he slaps most of it into a down payment on a mink coat that his wife is sighing for.

But then the journals start talking about this coat and pretty soon you hear "mink, mink, mink, goal is Communist domination of all Asia. But the Communist appetite will not even be satisfied with that. In the future are plans for domination of the Middle East, Africa, and South and Central America."

Bob Hope Signs $2 Million Contract

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Bob Hope has signed a two-million-dollar contract under which the comedian will do six shows a week, five of them during the daytime.

Hope's representatives, who announced the deal Wednesday, said it was the biggest single-season deal in radio history. The General Foods Corp. will sponsor the shows. There will be a 15-minute daytime show on tape, Monday through Friday and a half hour night variety show tentatively set for Tuesdays.

The daytime series will start November 10 and continue for 35 weeks. The weekly night show will start January 7 and continue 26 weeks.

Hope will also do 10 monthly television shows for the Colgate "Comedy Hour," the first scheduled for October 12.

TRYGVE LIE TO STEP DOWN AS UN SECRETARY

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Secretary-General Trygve Lie has decided to step down from his $40,000-a-year United Nations post on Feb. 1, 1954, at the end of a three-year extension of his term, and retire to Norway. Some day he would like to be prime minister of that country.

This was disclosed Friday by persons who know the mind of Norway's former foreign minister. He has been top boss of the 4,000-man U. N. Secretariat since 1946.

Lifetime Pension

When he leaves, he will get a lifetime pension of $10,000 a year, but he cannot hold public office until he has been away from the U. N. for five years. Lie now is 55.

Lie's intentions came to the fore as U. N. officials studied a draft of a staff reorganization scheme which would abolish the posts of eight assistant secretaries general, each paid $22,000 annually, and would create three deputy secretaries general, each at a considerably higher salary.

Lie was said to have described this plan as his "last will and testament." He is known to be extremely anxious to have the Secretariat staff on a sound footing before he leaves.

NIXON RESUMES WESTERN SWING

By The Associated Press

Sen. Richard M. Nixon, the Republican vice presidential nominee, resume his interrupted Western campaign Friday with both fists swinging.

He told a cheering shouting audience at Salt Lake City last night that he planned a stronger counter-offensive against the Democrats who accused him of wrongdoing in accepting funds from wealthy Californians.

Saying he's had a "rough time" himself, he lashed out at Gov. Adlai Stevenson — whom he called the "chlorophyll candidate" — with a demand that the Illinois governor make a full, public airing of his special fund.

Sen. John J. Sparkman, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, wound up at Oklahoma City Friday as did Nixon.

Campaigning in Iowa Thursday, Sparkman told a Des Moines audience that American voters will cast their ballots for Democrats again this year because they want a change — "a change to keep up with fast changing conditions," a change which he said Republicans won't make because of their "backward looking philosophy."

Children Split Most

Of Sullivan's Estate

WEST CHESTER, Pa. (AP)—Columnist Mark Sullivan left most of an estate valued at $65,000 to his three children.

His will, filed in Chester County Court Wednesday, also gave $10,000 to a secretary, Miss Mabel Shea, Washington, D. C.

Sullivan died last month after a heart attack. Most of the estate was left in equal shares to his son, Mark Jr., and two daughters, Mrs. James Parker, Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Dale Sieghrist, Randolph, Vt.

BIG SOLDIER VOTE

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gene D. Smith, commonwealth secretary, today forecast a big turnout of votes in the November 4 General Election from Pennsylvanians in the armed forces.

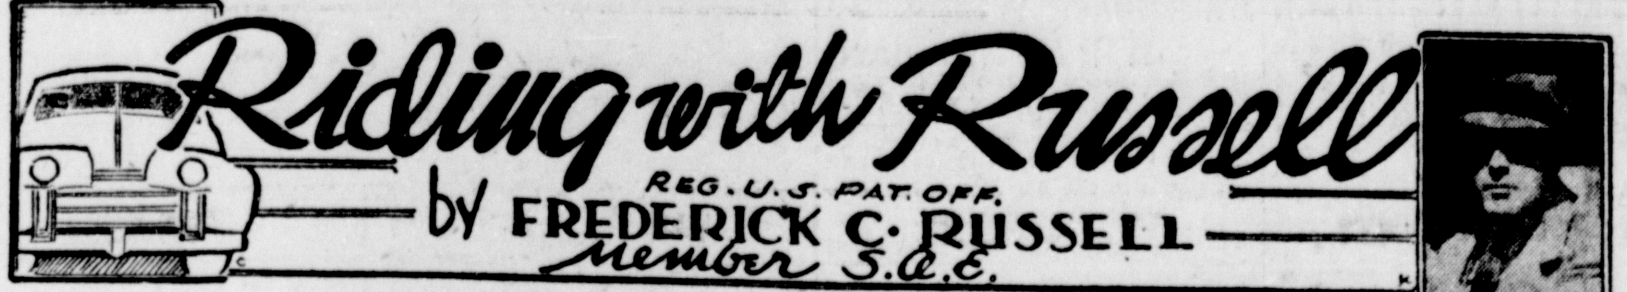

"The ease of voting under Pennsylvania's absentee voting law and the tremendous interest engendered by this presidential campaign should mean an outstanding number of military ballots," he told a newsman.

everywhere," Caudle says. "They even called me the mink man."

And he sighs and you can see he is hurt by what Uncle Edgar does to him.

A dry road is little consolation if the driver happens to be wet.

Matter Of Psychology

Better relations between car buyer and seller could be obtained if more motorists with justifiable complaints would use a little more psychology when running to the service station to air their troubles. From many years of observing this I find that it is a definite handicap to have too many complaints at one time. The motorist who starts talking about a rattle in the car's body before the service manager has a chance to check the motor is just confusing the issue.

Such a customer is likely to be viewed as a chronic faultfinder. Some of my mail from disgruntled owners lists a string of things that are wrong with his car. Invariably the reaction is to wonder if perchance there is something wrong with the owners themselves.

It is all too true that often a car will develop a group of troubles that are not easily connected. The industry recognizes what is known as the "lemon." New cars often need quite a bit of nursing to get them into the pink of condition. But when things pile up the smart procedure is to take one thing at a time and not confuse the issue by dragging in a lot of miscellaneous car misbehavior. It is smart to keep in mind that often when the major ailments are corrected the lesser ills have a way of solving themselves.

Typical Of Ignition

It ought to be some help to anyone trying to figure out an engine's misbehavior to know that any faults in the ignition system will show up as a more pronounced roughness than troubles caused by carburetion or uneven compression. If you have any doubt about this just try the simple experiment of disconnecting one of the spark plug wires and tying it way from the engine head. The engine will be so rough any irregularities in idling from other causes will seem to be quite minor. An exception to the rule is when there is trouble with the carburetor float. Should the float stick so as to flood the motor, or starve it, the engine will stumble badly and often stall.
